Norderstedt, Deutschland - In Norderstedt, a shocking ATM explosion rocked the community early Wednesday morning, April 9, 2025, at approximately 3:20 AM in the Glashütte district. In the chaotic moments following the blast, two suspects were spotted making a daring escape on a motor scooter, quickly fleeing toward the Hamburg city area. Whether they successfully made off with cash remains uncertain, but it has been confirmed that the ATM was equipped with anti-theft ink, which permanently stains any stolen bills—this time with green dye.

Shortly after the explosion, police discovered a suspicious black motor scooter parked in the Holitzberg residential area, near the Asklepios Klinik Heidberg in Hamburg Langenhorn, believed to be connected to the crime. Authorities are now on the hunt for witnesses who might have seen the suspects or their getaway vehicle. The Norderstedt police are urging anyone with information to come forward by calling 040 528060, promising to distribute flyers throughout the area to aid the investigation.
