

P V Anvar: „DMK als soziale Bewegung - Politische Partei geplatzt!“

Der Abgeordnete P V Anvar erklärt, dass die Demokratische Bewegung von Kerala eine soziale Bewegung ist, nicht eine Partei.

Dissident MLA P.V. Anvar has clarified that the Democratic Movement of Kerala (DMK) is not a political party but a social movement. He made this announcement during a media interaction at his residence, revealing that the decision to go public was influenced by media pressure rather than his initial timeline. Anvar mentioned ongoing technical challenges in forming a political party, indicating he's consulting with a legal advisor to navigate these issues. Although he had planned to unveil the movement details in three weeks, he expedited the announcement due to pressing media inquiries.

Prior to Anvar's statement, reports indicated he had been in talks with DMK leaders, including Tamil Nadu's Electricity Minister V. Senthil Balaji, about establishing a new party. This new entity is expected to ally with the ruling Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam in Tamil Nadu, with an official announcement set for a public meeting in Manjeri. Anvar emphasized that the common people would be the main attraction at the event, pointing out their significance in this movement. Additionally, he called for stringent action against ADGP Ajith Kumar, demanding his suspension from the Kerala Police Headquarters, and critiqued the CPM for expelling him without adequately addressing his grievances regarding P. Sasi. More details on this evolving situation can be found in the report on
