

CIS-Blockreihe: Dollar-Abschied! 85% Handel in Landeswährung

BRICS und CIS: 12 Länder umgehen US-Dollar, 85% des Handels in lokalen Währungen. Finanzlandschaft verändert sich.

Stop the presses! The mighty US dollar is finding itself sidelined as a jaw-dropping financial revolution takes hold! The Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS), a powerful bloc of 12 nations including Russia, Kazakhstan, and Ukraine, is shaking up the global stage by handling 85% of its cross-border trade in national currencies, leaving the dollar in the dust! The move, orchestrated by Russia with BRICS backing, is part of a grand de-dollarization campaign, which aims to boost local economies and gain financial independence.

In a bold declaration at the recent CIS summit, Russian President Vladimir Putin announced the ambitious plan to cut ties with the US dollar, emphasizing that both BRICS and CIS members are on a fast track to technological sovereignty and financial autonomy. As the CIS bloc embraces this sweeping change, the implications could be colossal, potentially propelling developing nations to newfound economic heights.
